During my previous role at the University of Bolton UK/GB, I worked with large amounts of data , facts , figures. I am a recent graduate, academic knowledge offers the skill to perceive through data to conclusions and crunching numbers . I often relied on my pristine communication skills to present my judgments. I was responsible for translating the company data into a comprehensive format. I am vigilant in ensuring that my data and findings are accurate, and I can manoeuvre plethora volumes of data and financial issues conveniently.

During my academy career I studied a wide range of topics to support my financial degree at University of Bolton, conferring me access to various topics such as cost accounting, economics, finance , marketing, logistics. Naturally inclined to mathematical abilities, University education cemented essential concepts into my working memory. My education has allowed me to perfect skills as a semi-mathematician and as a team player. I possess an exquisite work ethic, able to meet tight deadlines, perform under pressure, and counteract adverse repercussions.
